OH NO Volcano!

is a game about a peaceful village, a mean old volcano, and lots and lots of falling stuff. It's a story of adventure and bravery in the face of impossible odds!...Sort of.

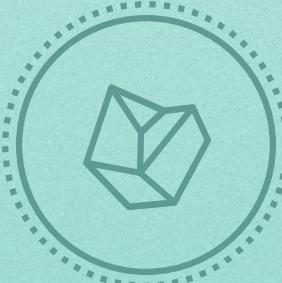

At its core, ONV is a basic 2D physics game. Tilting your device back and forth controls a big net, which you use to protect the village from projectiles as they are hurled by the volcano. Racking up consecutive catches adds to the bonus multiplier, and misses wipe it out! Facing wave after wave of ever increasing challenge, how long can you last?

Health packages repair village damage, coins and bonus rounds increase your score and every now and then a cool piece of loot comes flying out. These Rare Items are worth a bushel of points and are collected in the stats section.

The gameplay is simple, easy to pick up and play and keeps you coming back to beat your high score, see what curious artifacts the volcano will launch next, and complete your loot collection.

OH NO Volcano! takes the addictive fun of this simple formula and brings it to life in a whimsical world of rich beauty and adventure!

Projectiles

range from rocks and lava to coins and aid crates. Catch the rocks with the net, but if you catch a blob of hot lava, it will burn right through! In order to make it safe to catch, you must tap the lava blob, and it will cool into a rock. Catching coins will give you more points, and catching aid crates helps to restore the health of the village. The game ends when the village health is depleted.
